

NEW POSTOFFICE IN TULSA IS NECESSITY

Postmaster J. M. Crutchfield Says Million Dollar Structure is Only Solution of Congested Condition.

HOWARD IS APPEALED TO

Recent Growth of City Has Resulted in Present Quarters Being Inadequate for Increased Business.

It is possible that Tulsa will have new $1,000,000 federal building within the next two years according to J. M. Crutchfield, postmaster.

Howard is appealing to the department for a definite indication of whether the local postal officials have reached Tulsa postal officials from Washington several requests have been appealed to for assistance in convincing the department.

Special inspectors who visit Tulsa are aware of the great need for additional quarters and have reported in the past to the department.

Howard has also discussed the proposition with government officials and the government has been asked to send an architect here to survey the city's postal needs.

In the opinion of Crutchfield a new building, doubling the facilities of the present structure which would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, is the only solution.

The Tulsa postal service moved to its present quarters in July of 1917 and according to officials here the space at disposal was found to be inadequate to needs shortly thereafter and the Tulsa service has far exceeded its accommodations.

At present it is contemplated using part of the basement for mail rooms. Ten clerks and 19 more carriers are needed.

MAN WHOSE CHECK WAS TURNED DOWN, SUES BANK

Asking judgment for $5,000, suit was filed in district court Wednesday by H. Lee Martin against the American National bank of this city.

to recover alleged damages to his business integrity when the defendant bank refused to honor a check made by Lee on the grounds that it had no account with the institution.

Martin claims that he opened an account with the bank while a resident of St. Joe, Ark. and on June 29, 1918, drew on the account by check $125. The check, cashed at a bank at St. Joe, was returned by the local bank marked no funds.

The plaintiff states in his petition that the defendant bank, finding that an error had been made and that Martin had an account amply large to cover the check, telegraphed the bank at St. Joe to this effect: "Charged Martin $125 protest fees and $3 telegraph charges."

He claims his standing has been injured in the sum of $5,000 by the plans of the defendant.

JUDIE FESSLER WINS SUIT FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

A judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $4,000, as asked in the petition, was made in superior court Wednesday in the suit of Studie Fessler against the Tidal Oil company, the parties to the suit waiving trial.

Mrs. Fessler asked damages for herself and three children, for the death of her husband and father by E. Fessler, who met his death May 1, 1918, while in the employ of a defendant company as an operator of an oil loading rack.

Jobs of All Kinds and Many of Them Are Open in Tulsa But Only Few Takers Found

Jobs are being begging in Tulsa. Both the state employment bureau and the Y. M. C. A. employment bureau have jobs of every kind waiting for everybody.

ready this morning. The state bureau has a number of laboring jobs in the city to fill, besides calls for farm hands of various kinds. It has already given employment to 44 men and 53 women this week, but has been unable to fill many more because of the many men who leave before they can be placed.

TWENTY STRIKEBREAKERS are handling all the business the Western Union telegraph company can get according to H. E. Gale, manager. A school is being conducted to train girls to handle the automatic sending device. Presumably the striking operators are not figuring on returning to work and all are seeking employment elsewhere, according to Mr. Gale.

If five men buy an oil lease the cost is less to each man than if only three buy it. The cost of the Spavinaw project is to be assessed against an increase in valuation of from 50 to 80 per cent. That means you will pay no more taxes next year with the water provided for than you are paying now for Arkansas river water that is unfit to drink.

THREE PLEAD GUILTY, TO KNOW FATE TODAY

John Brown, Who Shot and Wounded City Detective, Following Burglary, Admits Guilt.

Entering pleas of guilty to felony charges in district court Wednesday afternoon, three defendants, Elmer J. Dowler, John Brown and P. C. Pederson, were returned to jail to await sentence Monday by Judge Redmont S. Cole.

Dowler entered a plea of guilty to a charge of passing a bogus check for $57.50, purported to have been made by the Sinclair-Cudahy Pipe Line company on April 12 to one George W. Bickery. The check was honored at a local bank.

Brown charged with burglary of the building at 127 West First street on the night of May 29 when City Detective Bassett was shot through the arm in a revolver battle between city officers and the defendant, entered a plea of guilty.

Pederson pleaded guilty to obtaining money from the Security State bank of this city June 2, when the defendant cashed a check for $20 on an account alleged to be at his disposal in the First National bank of Pueblo, Colo.

Judge Cole, at the request of Thomas I. Munroe, county attorney, agreed that the pleas of several other defendants would be taken by the court Thursday morning. All pleas of guilty for the term will be taken before Monday, when sentences will be passed by the court.

Judge Is Puzzled When Man Is Tried Before Actual Theft Occurred

The case of the state of Oklahoma against W. O. Coffey, charged with the larceny of two cases of cigars valued at $148 from the Indian Trading company on June 1, was taken under advisement by the court at the close of the preliminary hearing before Justice H. J. Gray Wednesday afternoon, the court having been unable to definitely decide upon what action should be taken in the matter.

The state, in placing W. M. Farrell on the witness stand, sought to prove that Coffey had stolen the cigars and hidden them in the rear of the store and that the witness had agreed to carry the goods from the hiding place and sell them to a local merchant.

It developed during the hearing that the merchant, becoming suspicious that the goods had been stolen, notified the officers. The latter arrested Farrell before he had an opportunity to take possession of the goods. It was found by the court that Farrell had told various stories as to his part in the alleged theft of the cigars and Judge Gray took the case under advisement for further investigation.
